Tuesday	Notes:	Objective: Students will develop an understanding of the various civilizations of the ancient Near East that pre-date or are contemporaneous with emerging Greek city-states. Lesson Overview: Tuesday- Hopefully here we'll finish up the ancient Near East. Friday - B week, no class on Friday.	Academic Standards:
Wednesday	Notes:	Objective: Students will demonstrate their understanding of ancient cultures through discussion of their relative merits and problems through comparative analysis. Lesson Overview: Wednesday - If we're done with all the pre-Greece content, you tell me your favorite/least favorite civilizations so far and why? Use anything we have talked through in class, and anything else you know or want to research. Time permitting, we'll talk through and introduction to ancient Greece	Academic Standards:

Thursday	Notes:	Objective: Students will begin to develop a holistic understanding of ancient Greek daily life, the variations between city states, a visual sense of what these city-states and their citizens looked like. Lesson Overview: Thursday - Overview of Ancient Greece, finalizing your class projects and some time to work on them (I'll have a parameters sheet for you that tells you what I expect from a presentation). I have a slide file in Canvas for the ancient Greece overview, I'll be adding to this as we go. We'll also watch a few short animations that try to recreate what we think ancient Greece likely looked like.	Academic Standards:
